Agreement Summary:

Horizon's current competitively solicited agreement with CDW-G offers discounts and free freight on software, software licensing, software maintenance, hardware and peripherals. Lenovo products have always been included in this agreement.

Upon seeing the value and opportunity that the Horizon and CDW-G partnership brings, Lenovo has extended to Horizon member institutions, via CDW-G, even deeper discounts than are normally available within higher education.

Discounts are offered on all Lenovo products. Certain educational configurations on ThinkPad® notebooks and ThinkCentre® desktops are available as featured models with even deeper discounts. Select educational models, labeled as "academic" in the feature specifications, are unique in that they include a software preload relevant to higher education, including Adobe® Premiere Elements, Adobe Photoshop Elements, as well as VitalSource.

Accessories offered with special discounts include monitors, batteries, carrying cases, memory, etc.

These discounted prices on all Lenovo products are only available through Horizon's agreement with CDW-G. Additional information including specifications and pricing may be found at www.cdwg.com/hrg.
